

as other professional institutional investors; (ii) sale to offline investors; or (iii) public offering to the general public. Offline investors include securities companies, fund management

The proposed spin-